BIOGRAPHY

Thomas Tertius Noble was born in Bath, England in 1867. He studied at the Royal College of Music from 1885 to 1889 with Frederick Bridge (1844-1924), Walter Parratt (1841-1924) and Charles Stanford (1852-1924). In 1897 T. Tertius Noble married Meriel Maude Stubbs, elder daughter of the Dean of Ely. Their only son, Philip was born in 1903. In 1924 T. Tertius Noble became assistant organist at Trinity College in Cambridge, leaving two years later for the organist position at Ely Cathedral. In 1898 he moved to York Minister, where he established an orchestra and directed the York Musical Society.

In 1913 T. Tertius Noble emigrated to the United States to take the position of director of music at St. Thomas Church in New York City, where he established a choir school in the English cathedral tradition. He retired from St. Thomas in 1947 at the age of 75, and spent his last years in Rockport Massachusetts, where he continued to compose until his death on May 4, 1953.

T. Tertius Noble was an outstanding musician, organist and choirmaster. Known now primarily as a composer of a sacred music—anthems, hymntunes, original organ works, and the two celebrated collections of free organ accompaniments to familiar hymns—he was also a composer of operas, orchestral works, chamber music, and songs. His unpublished “Memoirs” is a unique source of interest about his own career and about musical life in England and United States.
